

Came back from a financial ruin of 2008. It is possible.

I have come back from a financial ruin in 2008

What I have learned

Created my credit score near 800. and choose not to use more than 20% of my available credit. My personal net worth is over $750K, I have connected with credible business leaders and share my journey.

What you can do

One of the keys to success is how to build a business. Building a business provides a path to more cash flow and leverage. Having access to credit and utilizing it wisely can make a difference in your wealth building process.

One of the most important pathways to establishing your business credibility is making sure ALL your business records list the same business information.

Lenders verify these details during the underwriting process. Mismatched records are one of the most common reasons a line of credit is declined.

To move forward, please verify the following business records:

- Secretary of State Entity Filing
- Business License
- EIN#
- Business Bank Account
- Merchant Account
- Current Business Credit Accounts
- 411 Listing
- Website

ALL business records should list 100% correct business information
Any business creditors that list incorrect information should be updated.
